ST. LOUIS.

The Floating Ice-The River Open to Mouth of Missouri-All Gorges Gone-No Further Damage Reported.

St. Louis, January 29.—But little ice is floating past the city to-day. The river is now open to the mouth of the Missouri, and possibly some miles up that stream, but how far is not known. The Mississippi is still closed at Alton. Nothing definite is known as to the condition of the river below here, but the supposition is that all garges are gone, and the channel is open to back-water, above Cairo. No further damage reported in this vicinity.

Pretty heavy ice has been running here a day, but not enough to obstruct navigation. The gorge at St. Charles, Herman and Washington, in Missouri, have given way and that stream is rising rapidly. The Mississippi is still closed at Allan and at all points above. The ice is running out at Cairo and the Anchor line boats Maude, Grand Tower, and City of Alton have been ordered up here NASHVILLE, January 29.—The governor from Cairo. The river has risen four inches igned the following resolutions and bills: A at this point. The government gauge shows esolution to investigate the Nashville uni-ersity and State norman school. IN MEMORIAM.

M. W. Benney. Mr. M. W. KENNEY died on Tuesday, August 1878, of yellow fever, in this city. As a tribute to he memory of one who in all the relations of life he was called on to fill did so, nobly and so well, are ne was called on to fill did so, nobly and so well, are these few lines penned, failing far short in encomiums of his true merit. Unassumming in manner, his good deeds by way of charity bestowed upon his less fortunate fellowman are recorded to his heavenly gain. As a husband, father and friend, he endeared himself to those he shielded with his protecting arm. A warm, generous heart is stilled in in Death's ley embrace. To those who are left to mourn their loss is offered the sympathy of many friends, united to the beautiful faith of a heavenly reunion, where all is well.

"After the weary strife,
After the restless fever we call life—
After the dreariness, the aching pain—
The wayward struggles, which were vain,
He sleeps at last."
